

Investment Objective and Strategy

3D U.S. Focused Equity ETF seeks long-term capital appreciation using exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”) to target risk-based exposure primarily within the U.S. equity markets. The strategy’s investment objective is to provide long-term superior risk-adjusted returns over the broad U.S. equity benchmark as represented by the S&P 1500 Composite Index. 3D U.S. Equities can be used as a standalone equity strategy or as a component within a risk-based asset allocation program (i.e. asset mixes targeting long-term capital market return objectives).

Investor Profile

Designed for investors with the highest risk tolerance who want to maximize their return potential and can handle high short-term account volatility and have an investment time horizon over ten years.

¹Performance The 3D US-Focused Equities Portfolio Composite includes all discretionary accounts that are managed to the 3D US-Focused Equities Portfolio Strategy which uses exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and/or mutual funds to target 100% equity exposure. Net Composite Returns shown above represent the composite return of actual client accounts. Actual client costs will vary based on account size and total value of household assets. Performance data shown represents past performance.

²Growth of $100,000 shown in the chart represents the cumulative total return of the 3D Portfolio composite since inception, both gross and net of fees. Investment return and principal value of an investment with 3D Portfolios will fluctuate so that an investor's investment when redeemed may be worth more or less than their original cost. As with any investment strategy, there is a potential for profit as well as the possibility of loss.

³Portfolio Characteristics may change over time. Average Fund Expense is the weighted average fund expense ratio based on the portfolio allocation and ETF holdings. Number of Securities is the sum total of securities held within each ETF. Portfolio Yield is the sum of net dividend per share amounts that have gone ex-dividend over the prior 12 months, divided by the current stock price. The yield is helpful in estimating the amount of income that can be expected to be generated from a Portfolio. Standard Deviation is a measure of the portfolio's volatility based on the dispersion of historical monthly returns from the mean over a five year period. A higher standard deviation indicates higher volatility of returns. Sharpe Ratio is a measure of risk-adjusted performance that indicates whether excess return was generated by portfolio management decisions or by taking on additional risk. The risk-free rate assumed for this calculation is based on annualized returns of 90-Day U.S. Treasury Bills. A higher Sharpe Ratio indicates a higher risk-adjusted return and is generally favorable.

⁴Portfolio Holdings information is as of March 31, 2024. There is no assurance that the specific securities listed will remain in the Portfolio. Asset allocation and portfolio holdings may differ from the model among accounts in the composite. 3D employs a diversification strategy using index-based exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") to represent specific asset classes in the Portfolio and should not be considered a recommendation to buy or sell a particular ETF security. As with all investments, ETFs have risks. For more detailed information on the ETFs used in 3D Portfolios investors may request a prospectus by contacting their advisor.
